

CANTEL MEDICAL'S MAR COR PURIFICATION SUBSIDIARY TO ACQUIRE DIALYSIS SERVICES, INC.

...Extending its Water Purification Reach into the Tennessee Valley

LITTLE FALLS, New Jersey – June 18, 2007 ... CANTEL MEDICAL CORP. (NYSE:CMN), through its Mar Cor Purification subsidiary, is further expanding its water purification and filtration business and has entered into an agreement to purchase the water-related assets of Dialysis Services, Inc. (DSI). DSI, based in Springfield, Tennessee, designs, installs and services high quality water and bicarbonate systems for use in dialysis clinics, hospitals and university settings. The business being acquired has pre-acquisition revenues of approximately $1.2 million, and the transaction is scheduled to close on August 1, 2007.

Curt Weitnauer, President of Mar Cor Purification, stated, "The combination of DSI's strong brand name and regional presence, combined with Mar Cor's existing Tennessee-based business, creates a stronger sales and service presence to better serve our customers. Through this acquisition, we will be adding an outstanding team and base of business in a highly desirable region – one with great concentration of dialysis clinics and healthcare institutions. We anticipate achieving service efficiencies and leveraging Mar Cor's manufacturing, resin regeneration and parts businesses."

Cantel's President & CEO, R. Scott Jones, added, "Building atop our recent acquisition of GE Water & Process Technologies' dialysis water business, we are implementing our strategy to further build out our service network into key geographic areas. The opportunity to achieve both top and bottom line synergies will serve well in strengthening our water purification and filtration business."

Mar Cor Purification will be retaining the key sales and service team of DSI, including its COO, Michael Sterling, and VP of Operations, Robert Castles, each of whom will enter into employment agreements with Mar Cor Purification. DSI will be discontinuing local manufacturing.
